Experience It! Aran Islands

These rugged islands stand fast against the Atlantic, just outside of Galway Bay. Just a few miles from the Cliffs of Moher, each of the three islands, Inisheer, Inishmaan, and Inishmore, possesses its own distinct character. Seemingly frozen in time, these islands have remarkably kept the modern world at bay. Visit Inishmore (or Inis Mór, meaning "the big island"). Inhabited by a population of only 850, this rocky enclave is the largest of the islands. In addition to its stark natural beauty, it is well-known for playing home to a number of archaeological sites. Na Seacht Teampaill, or the Seven Churches, was a pilgrimage site on the Aran Islands during the Middle Ages and part of this ancient structure remains today.

The overall activity level of this tour is a level 3. This means you're an on-the-go traveler. You don't want to miss a thing, so walking and standing for longer periods of time (2-3 hours) isn't a big deal. A moderately paced two-and-a-half-hour walking tour, covering several miles, hills, and uneven surfaces, is no problem for you. Walking four miles over the course of a day is very doable, as is climbing into and out of various modes of transportation (tuk-tuk, cable car, zodiac, etc.). You can climb three flights of stairs easily and handle altitudes between 6,000 and 9,000 feet. Expect some longer days with early mornings or late nights balanced with free time to recharge or set out on your own adventure. This level is not a fit for travelers who require mobility assistance devices.

Travel with an average of 19 people (maximum of 24).

Your time in Dublin includes a city walking tour which will last approximately 3 hours with periods of standing up to 15 minutes.
